JOURNAL OF THE ATLANTIC COAST CAMELLIA SOCIETY

*William Lee Poe, Jr.
2010 Award of Merit Recipient*

Atlantic Coast Camellia Society 2010 Award of Merit

The 2010 Award of Merit is presented to

William Lee Poe, Jr.

The recipient of this year's Award of Merit is William Lee Poe, Jr. Lee is well known in the camellia world and to all of you in attendance. Lee has worn many hats in his lifetime to include various responsibilities in a 38 year career with E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Company. Educated as a chemical engineer, he continues to tackle numerous projects with intensity that few of us can match.

Lee has held multiple positions in the camellia societies to include SC State Director for (2001-2002) and President of the ACCS (2004-2006). Under his leadership, the educational programs at the annual meetings were strengthened and the need to increase membership was encouraged. He has been chairman of the Aiken Camellia Show for a host of years and is considered the leading expert in the care and culture of camellias throughout the central Savannah River area and far beyond.

Lee has been the primary author of a book, Aiken County Camellia Cultivars, which pictorially illustrates all the seedlings registered in Aiken County. Through his vast research, information about the original growers is also included.

Lee Poe has been an inspiration to many camellia lovers over the past seven decades. One of his noted characteristics is his ability to develop and inspire others through his extensive knowledge of camellia care and culture.

Thank you, Lee, for all you do for improving the world of camellias and those who love them.

Gift of $10,000 to American Camellia Society By Bonnie Serpas, Treasurer, ACCS

The Atlantic Coast Camellia Society is proud to announce that it has satisfied its pledge to the American Camellia Society's 60th Anniversary Fund. The pledge of $10,000.00 was satisfied by contributing $2,000 increments over each of the past five years.

The money was raised from dues, auctions and raffles. All members of the Atlantic Coast Camellia Society receive sincere appreciation for participating in this fund-raising effort.

President's Message

Mack McKinnon

It's spring show time again for us with "CAMELLIA FEVER!" Those I've talked with have been fine tuning their plants and camellia skills to put that perfect bloom on the head table. It's not officially winter in mid-December and we already are experiencing record cold weather. However, we will not be deterred. Those growing unprotected will be praying for milder weather and those with greenhouses will be paying the power bills. All in all, I'm counting on a great season for camellias.

The 2010 ACCS convention was a great success. The Litchfield Beach & Golf Resort personnel were very easy to work with and their facility nicely met our needs.

The survey taken at the banquet shows the following:

1. Most liked the facility and thought it was great.
2. Many would like more tours of gardens, plantations and local points of interest. Golf and fishing are out.
3. Suggestions for the education programs indicated we need to stay on subjects related to camellias.
4. Most thought the convention schedule was good and the meeting went well.

At the ACCS Spring Board Meeting, we will discuss more details of the survey and consider suggestions for the 2011 convention.

We welcome the camellia clubs from Peninsular Florida. The ACCS will be sending our journal to the clubs so you can get an idea of what we are all about. I hope you will join the ACCS and attend the convention to be held September 16 & 17, 2011. I'll assure that you will have a good time and make many new camellia friends.

Mack

Welcome Peninsular Florida Societies

Welcome Peninsular Florida Societies! As Editor, I am happy that the American Camellia Society has designated your area as officially being Atlantic Coast—the area covered by the Atlantic Coast Camellia Society. In January, May, and September we send to members our official publication, Atlantic Coast Camellias, a 32-page journal which we hope to keep representative of and include information and news from all clubs recognized by The American Camellia Society as Atlantic Coast States. In future issues, we invite your club and its members to submit information and articles of interest to all cameliaphytes. We want to know all your plans camellia-wise including planned society functions and reports.

This issue is the first in our thirty-year history that is all color and includes photographs of the members who attended the convention at Litchfield Beach this past September. Please be sure your membership is up-to-date. The membership form is located on the inside back cover of this issue.

Again, I say welcome on behalf of “Atlantic Coast Camellias.”

Katherine and
Richard Mims

You Know You're Hooked on Camellias When ...

Richard Mims

... your spouse sends you to the grocery store for a loaf of bread and you return home with a new camellia bush and forget the bread.

... you trade your car for a truck to haul pine bark and compost. When your spouse complains about the small amount of riding space, you buy the quad cab.

... you plan vacation trips around the location of camellia gardens and camellia nurseries.

... the only friends you have are in the camellia showing and growing crowd.

... you sneak home a five-foot tall camellia plant with big red flowers, plant it outside your picture window and hope your spouse won't notice.

... you put camellias in your budget instead of home repairs or clothes.

... when a visitor comes to the front door, s/he is warmly greeted while being escorted straight out the back door to see your camellias.

... on your birthday you prefer a load of black-hen manure to a nice dinner.

... you spend time riding around the neighborhood on trash day or go dumpster diving for usable potting containers.

... you get permission from your spouse to build a $1,000 greenhouse and you know full well that it will cost at least $5,000.

... you must wash your hair once or twice a day to keep your hands and fingernails clean.

Thirtieth Annual Convention Held at Litchfield Beach, SC

The Atlantic Coast Camellia Society held its thirtieth annual convention on September 17 and 18, 2010 at the Litchfield Beach and Golf Resort. The convention was a wonderful beginning for the 2010-2011 Camellia season.

Guests began festivities with a tour of colonial Hobcaw Barony—Bellefield Plantation. The Board of Directors handled the business of the Society in the afternoon. All present members gathered for the welcoming party in the Litchfield-by-the-Sea Beach House with its breathtaking views and noises of the rolling Atlantic Coast surf and churning sands. Beach sounds competed with joyous, happy conversation as camellia friends caught up with news and gossip. Many participants had not seen each other since the last spring Camellia season.

The welcoming party and the sumptuous barbecue dinner kicked off the convention on a very positive note. After a night's rest, participants continued the togetherness in the morning after breakfast with drinks and camaraderie.

The General Meeting began at 10:00 with President Glenn Capps presiding. Afterwards was the fund-raising auction known as the "Buck and Bill Show." Buck Mizzell was again the wheeling, dealing, Gullah talking loudmouth catering mostly to the lady folk and conning dem out oh dey money. He missed a big deal wit dat "Bev Piete's Smile."

Two bidders were going back and forth with little pause when he whispered and accepted a secret deal with the lady (as you would suspect) involved. He accepted a hunert 'n fitty dollahs and could easily have gotten over two hunert dollahs. (De udder bidder even tried to steal de plant by trying to git de money ladies to take his hunert 'fitty dollahs before de deal maker got a chance. Dat stealing attempt jess ditten wuk out. Dat deal lady wuttten leve without dat "Bev Piet's Smile." Dat awksioneer does get power hungry and lets all yenna no dat he is de Buck in charge. Awe ight?)

green Gardens” with its world-class sculpture exhibits. George Wyeth, Vice President of Horticulture, created much interest in the gardens and many ACCS members are making plans to come early next year and add a day visiting Brookgreen Gardens.

The second education program of the afternoon was “how to” directions for bark grafting and fertilizing camellias. The Atlantic Coast Camellia Society is fortunate to have noted horticulturist and owner of Loch Laurel Nursery in Valdosta, Ga., Dr. Mark Crawford, as a member. Mark’s presentations are always great. He manages to squeeze in for our edification, the results of his latest camellia research.

A Judge’s Re-accreditation Symposium was conducted by Geary Serpas and Elaine Smelly. The instructional format included answering questions and concerns of the students who were already accredited judges. All were apprised, through input from the principals and the judges, the major changes to the judging rules since the last official printed publication of the American Camellia Society. The session was graded A+ by students.

The convention concluded Saturday evening with dinner. The speaker was Miles Beach, another of our ACCS members.

Miles’ talk centered around the propagation and preservation of the 478 “ancient” camellia cultivars known to have come to the United States. Miles was one of the principals in forming the Great Gardens of America Preservation Alliance (GGAPA).

In addition to trying to obtain and save the “ancient” camellias the GGAPA has expanded its efforts to include the saving of the “Historic” camellias introduced between 1900 and 1960. For more information on this subject, please read, “The Impossible Dream Is Coming True,” by Douglas Ruhren, Horticulturist, in The Camellia Journal, June - August 2010, published by the American Camellia Society. You may sign up as a new member of the American Camellia Society and request your copy via email at lhuff@americancamellias.org or by calling Lorie Huff, Membership Coordinator at (877) 422-6355 or (478) 967-2358.
