SOUTH CAROLINA CAMELLIA SOCIETY

President's Message

JOHN A. TYLER, JR.

DEAR FELLOW MEMBERS:

Coming to the end of my term I would like to say "Thank You" to all the members and especially to a most cooperative group of officers and directors. I have enjoyed my term as president and feel that we have made some progress and hope for even more progress in the future. If we are to continue to grow, then every member must work to get others to join.

To get the most from your membership, attend as many of the meetings as possible. Make your plans now to attend the meeting in Columbia November 18 (see announcement in this bulletin), and also the meeting at Clemson in March. The exact time of the Clemson meeting has not been set at this time, but we will announce it later.

Do not forget to "Gib" early and late—but especially the early gib for outside blooms.

Make your plans to attend as many shows as possible to see the new varieties and old friends.

Sincerely,

John A. Tyler, Jr., President.

GEORGIA CAMELLIA SOCIETY

President's Message

STUART WATSON

Dear Members:

Some of you may not know of the death of Jim Peterson, who has been a director of the Georgia Camellia Society since the date of its founding. Mr. Jim was very much interested in camellias and deserves a lot of credit for the success of the Georgia Camellia Society. His contribution to this society and to the many shows he so enjoyed judging will be long remembered. His pleasant companionship and cheerful disposition will be greatly missed by all of us who knew and loved him.

This issue is being sent to a lot of people in Georgia who are interested in camellias but who are not members of the Georgia Camellia Society, "Carolina Camellias" goes to all of the members of the Georgia Camellia Society and is, in my opinion, one of the most helpful camellia publications. It should go to everyone who is really interested in this wonderful plant, and it comes to you as part of your membership in the Georgia Camellia Society. I wish every member of the Society would make it a point to look in the back of this issue, see who in your area are members of the Society, give a little thought to who else should be, and then contact those who should be but aren't and get them to join. The benefit of "Carolina Camellias" is too great for them to miss. Sign them up. Get a check for $3.00 payable to Georgia Camellia Society and send it with the name and address of the new member to our treasurer, James A. Blissit, 3193 Wynn Drive, Avondale Estates, Georgia, 30002. And it would be well for all of you who are members to send your check for $3.00 to Jim so that you won't forget and let your own membership lapse.

The meeting at Massee Lane on October 18 should start the year off with an enjoyable get together so read the details elsewhere in this issue and come to the meeting for a good time.

That's about all I have to say except go on and order your gib, get your blooms ready for the fall shows, and make as many of the shows as you can this year. I will be looking forward to another season of beautiful blooms and enjoyable fellowship and to seeing you at Massee Lane and the fall shows.

> Sincerely yours, STUART WATSON, President.

NORTH CAROLINA CAMELLIA SOCIETY

President's Message

Dear Members:

At the writing of this article the weather is still warm, yet there is a touch of fall in the air. Fall, that wonderful time of the year when people gather and exhibit beautiful blossoms, the fruit of a Calendar year's work.

During this past year, as always, there were many real fine shows and as the shows will begin very soon you are reminded of:

- (1) The McMillan Award which is the best results accomplished by a Camellia show membership booth each year, based upon the number of new members obtained for the society in relation to the size of the Camellia show and the show community.
- (2) The Robert Holmes Trophy which pertains to the most attractive membership booth each year selected by photographs submitted to the Board of Directors.

Our Fall meeting and Exhibition Show will be held at the N. C. State Faculty Club in Raleigh in cooperation with the Raleigh Garden Club on October 28.

Mrs. Dan K. Moore will entertain the society with a Tea at 4 P. M. at the Governor's Mansion.

Literature has been mailed to each member on this, but if you misplaced it write Mrs. Melba Hinson, Whiteville, N. C. and send $3.50 and be in Raleigh on the 28th October.

Lastly, I have enjoyed being your president this year passed. Any accomplishments must reflect credit to all officers, Directors, Past Presidents and faithful members.

Support your new officers, you Society, and remember to pay dues on time, to be a member is not enough, BE A GOOD MEMBER.

Sincerely,

LARRY L. TRAMMEL, President.

VIRGINIA CAMELLIA SOCIETY

President's Message

EUGENE M. WORDELL

DEAR MEMBERS:

We are looking forward to our '67-'68 Camellia Season with many events planned.

Our season was begun in September with a barbecue for members and guests at which time Gibberellic Acid was made available.

The second annual Fall Show will be held on November 25th and 26th, at Coleman's Nursery. Due to the success of the fall show in 1966, a similar procedure will be followed. All of us are looking forward to not only the beautiful blooms, but a time of enjoyable "Camellia Fellowship."

The "Under-Glass" show will be held at the East Little Creek Road Branch of the Seaboard Citizens National Bank on February 10th and 11th. For the first time this will be an ACS accredited show. We hope many friends from out-of-town will join in making this our best show of protected blooms.

On March 30th, 31st, the the 27th Annual Show will be held. At this time our door blooms and arrangements will be enjoyed in profusion.

With the hope that our members and friends will derive the utmost pleasure in participating in our scheduled events, we again invite Camellia Growers from other areas to join us whenever possible.

Sincerely,

E. M. Worrell, President.

Potting Mixtures

Bu STUART WATSON

At the Atlanta show last year, Carroll Moon asked me to write an article on potting mixtures. I thought one of the most interesting things we could do on this subject would be to contact some of the better growers in Georgia to see just what kind of potting mixture was used by the majority of those contacted. I got almost as many different answers as I wrote letters. Perhaps a list of the potting mixtures used by some of these growers will prove interesting and helpful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McDowell of Nashville, Georgia, attend practically all of the camellia meetings. She is the little lady who always wears a seven-inch camellia. I was hoping as I wrote this article I would find out Mr. McDowell's secret for raising those tremendous blooms. He advises me that he constantly experiments with new mixes but that the one he is presently using consists of three parts perlite; two parts bailed peat; and one part coarse sand.

Mrs. Percy Bland of Statesboro, contacted Mr. Fred Smith for me. She advises that Mr. Smith is the only grower of protected blooms in Statesboro, and we know he grows many award winning blooms. His mix consists of two parts woods earth; two parts refuse from his cotton gin; one part weathered pine sawdust; and an addition of cottonseed meal for nutriment. Mr. Smith operates a large cotton gin and uses his own products with a great deal of success. Certainly his plants should have the nourishment necesary to grow the showwinning blooms we all want.

Leland Cooper, who operates Cooper's Camellia Nursery in Pelham, advises that he uses a potting mix consisting of one-third German peat; one-third well-rotted peanut hulls: and one-third black topsoil.

Dr. Frank Houser, of Macon, uses a potting mix consisting of one part peat; one part sand; and one part of topsoil. To a wheelbarrow full of the mixture, he adds one-half pint of "Camazay".

Charlie Butler of Columbus, writes that his soil mixture consists of onethird topsoil; one-third coarse sand; one-sixth fully decomposed sawdust; and one-sixth very old dry cow manure.

The membership of the Georgia Camellia Society is not actually limited to people in Georgia, so I thought it might be well to go over into North Florida and contact Jav Ellis in Jacksonville for the soil mix he uses there. Jay is a camellia experimenter who is constantly working to improve his technique in growing our favorite flower, and, from Jay, I got one of the most elaborate mixes. He uses four bushels of real old and decomposed pine bark mixed with two bushels of peat; one and one-half bushels of dairy fertilizer; one-third bushel of perlite; one and one-half bushels of sandy topsoil; two number ten cans of cottonseed meal; six pounds of lime procured from oyster shells; one pound of super phosphate; and three-quarters of a pound of "Esminel". Jay says this combination makes about nine bushels of mixture. which he turns over thoroughly about three to six months before the time he plans to use the mixture in his transplanting. He further advises that the mixture tests at 5.5 to 5.8 pH. He continued to be high in his praise of pine bark and states that he has had about 390 cubic yards of pine bark cut into the soil at his place at Keystone Heights at Jacksonville in order to build up the sandy soil and grow better camellias. He said this was done about three years ago and that his results have been excellent as the plants show good color and are growing rapidly despite the fact that he has been unable to actually give the plants a great deal of care.

Tom Brightwell, who is in charge of the Camellia Test Garden at the Georgia Coastal Plain Experiment Station in Tifton, tells us that the mix he uses is three parts native peat moss; two parts fine sandy soil; and one part sawdust. He advises that perlite or perloam may be used in place of the sawdust for increased drainage, reduced weight, and for less tying up of nitrogen. He says the perlite costs more and for that reason he does not use it, though the results would probably be better.

Hugh Shackelford of Albany came up with another mixture about as complicated as that of Jav Ellis, Hugh uses three wheelbarrow loads of ash (long leaf pine ash obtained from the Hercules Powder Company in Brunswick, Georgia); three wheelbarrow loads of California Redwood fir bark (obtained from Sequoia Forest Products Company, Post Office Box 305, Dinbus, California); three wheelbarrow loads of good black loamy soil: one wheelbarrow load of German peat; five handfuls of dolamatic lime to each wheelbarrow load of the total mix: eight handfuls of cottonseed meal to each wheelbarrow load of the mix; and four handfuls of complete balanced camellia fertilizer per wheelbarrow load.

While I was getting up material for this summary, I ran into Bob Cale, who is one of the Birmingham growers that is constantly winning shows all over this section. Bob's mix consists of one-third light topsoil; onethird very coarse sand; and one-third peat with dolamatic limestone added to the completed mixture. He was unable to give the exact amount of lime added because he guesses at it as he is making up his mix.

Boynton Cole of Atlanta uses four parts of good garden soil; two parts of German peat; and one part of sand. He is planning to change his mix to use two parts sand so as to improve drainage and is likewise going to experiment with the use of sawdust.

W. J. McCoach, who won far more shows last year than most folks and is one of the finest growers in Atlanta, tells me he uses one part worm castings; two parts German peat; and two parts "Turface". He adds that Turface is a product of the Wyandotte Chemical Corporation, I. B. Ford Division, Wyandotte, Michigan. He advises that many building material companies stock Turface and that he finds it far surperior to sand.

From the above, I believe that you can see that camellias will grow in many varieties of soil mix. From the names of the growers who have given me their mixes, I believe you can likewise see that camellias will not only grow in many kinds of mix, but that they will grow fabulously well.

The important ingredients of a soil mix, from my own experience, consist of a combination that will give good drainage, will furnish good support to the plant, and will give the plant some nutriment, though the California mix, which has been so widely publicized, is a sterile mix to which all nutriment must be added. I hope this article will prove of value to you and that you will have a lot of fun experimenting with combinations of the mixes listed above.

The pH of the Soil

By Dr. Chiun T. Ling, Baltimore, Md.

By convention the pH is written with a small "p" and a capital "H". It is a scale for expressing the acidity or alkalinity of something such as soil, or a solution, or body fluid of animals, fruit juices, etc. In biochemical terms, pH is defined as "the negative logarithm of hydrogen ion concentration" $pH = -log_{1O}[H^+]$. The hydrogen ion concentration determines the ACID-ITY while hydroxyl ion [OH-] concentration is a measure of ALKA-LINITY. The superscript + or - is used to denote the ionized (electrically charged) particles. For example some of the water molecules are dissociated (ionized) into hydrogen and But pure water is ionized to a very slight extent, i.e. 0.0000001 part at room temperature, and the amount of hydrogen and hydroxyl ions present are equal, therefore, pure water is neutral. Since the scale of acidity and alkalinity spreads over a wide range, instead of writing many zeros one uses the logarithmic expression and writes lx 10-7 instead of 0.0000001. To further simplify the matter and avoid the unwieldy method of expression. Srensen suggested omitting the log 10 and the negative sign altogether using the exponent number with the term "pH", thus one writes pH 7 instead of $H^+ = lx 10^{-7}$. It is important to keep in mind that the pH value is expressed in logarithmic scale, and a change of one unit means a 10 fold increase or decrease in hydrogen ion concentrations. For example, a change from pH 6 to pH 5 means 10-6 to 10-5, a 10 fold increase in acidity, a solution of pH 3 is a thousand times as acid as one of pH 6. The scale of pH runs from 0 to 14 with pH 7 as neutral. Below pH 7 the hydrogen ions predominate and the reaction is on the ACID side, above 7, hydroxyl ions predominate, hence the pH is on the alkaline side. A term pOH is occasionally used for expressing alkalinity, but it is seldom used in practice; for simplicity one says pH 9 or pH 10 instead of pOH or pOH 4.

The Significance of Soil pH in Horticulture

1. pH of the soil affects the availability of nutrients such as nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, iron, copper, zinc, magnesium, calcium, etc., to plant life. If the soil pH is too high or too low, these elements may be tightly bound to the soil particles and can not be absorbed by the roots of the plant.

 Soils contain many tyes of bacteria, fungi, nematoda, etc., some of them are beneficial to plant life, others cause plant diseases. Examples of the beneficial microorganisms are the nitrogen fixing rhizobia and bacteria converting nitrite to nitrate or ammonia, making it utilizable for the plants. Since pH affects the growth of microorganism in the soil, whether the beneficial or the harmful type of organisms predominate in the soil depends to a large extent on soil pH.

pH of the soil also influences the ability of plants to utilize nutrients in the production of energy and formation of tissues.

The pH of the soil depends on the mineral elements and organic substances it contains and is further conditioned by the topography, vegetation, animal life, etc., which modify its composition over the years. Soils in humid, rainy regions tend to be acid; soils in dry regions are likely alkaline. Construction excavation and refilling may also change the soil pH. The soil pH in your front yard may be different from that of your back vard and those of your neighbors next to you or across the street. Therefore, the only sure way to know the soil pH of a certain area is to take a representative sample and subject it to actual test.

Testing of Soil pH: To determine the pH, the soil sample must be "representative" and of sufficient quantity. After removing the surface grass, dig down 6 to 7 inches deep and take a pint or more of sample from 5-6 places, allow them to airdry and mix well.

One of the methods to determine pH is by the use of pH papers. These papers contain pH indicators which develop various colors according to the pH. Several varieties are available, one of them covers the entire pH range from zero to 14 with a color chart in progression of one pH unit; a more accurate one is the "narrow range" papers covering only 3 to 4 pH units per box, e.g. pH 3 to 5.5 or 6 to 8, with a different color sample every 0.4 pH unit, One popular brand is the "Hydrion" papers available from most laboratory supply houses. At least two to three tablespoonfuls of the air-dried mixed soil sample must be used for testing. Most natural water has pH between 5.5 to 6.5 because of dissolved carbon dioxide, the water should be boiled to drive off the carbon dioxide, then adding to the soil sample in small amounts until a thin paste is obtained. Allow the sample to stand for 15 to 20 minutes with occasional stirring so that the soil and water have time to equilibrate. Use a strip of pH paper at least one inch long, dip one end into the soil sample and allow to soak up the liquid and watch the color change, compare it with the color chart in the box to read the pH value.

The more accurate method to determine pH is to measure it electrically by the use of a pH meter equipped with glass-membrane electrode. Such electrode when immersed in a solution develops voltages in proportion to the pH of the solution regardless of color, turbidity, viscosity, temperature or chemical nature, With the glass electrode, pH can be measured to the accuracy of one-tenth or one-hundredth of a unit.

This writer is not familiar with the "soil testing kits", but the principle is the same as the testing papers by the use of indicators and by the comparison of the developed color with the color standard. The limitation of the colorimetric method is the inaccuracy in comparing the shades of the color with the standard and possible interference by turbidity and other coloring matter. Unlike the electrical pH meter equipped with a temperaturecompensatory device, the colorimetric method is also subject to the influence of temperature. In most localities, reliable soil testing service is available from your County Agent or Department of Agronomy of the State University Extension Service. At least one pint of air-dried, well mixed sample should be supplied for the test.

How to Change the pH of the Soil

If the pH of the soil is not in the most favorable range for the plants you are growing, what could be done to change it? The pH of the soil is affected by the types of soil-conditioner, fertilizer, mulch, which one adds to it.

Soil-conditioners: Compost made from oak leaves, and sphagnum peat moss are quite acid and will lower the pH when mixed to the soil. Compost from other types of leaves and wood peat are about neutral; vermiculite, perlite or charcoal are inert and will not change soil pH.

Fertilizers: Cottonseed meal, superphosphate, ammonium sulphate, etc., will impart acidity to the soil; while bone meal will increase its alkalinity. Cow or sheep manures are almost neutral.

Mulch: Pine needles or oak leaves used as mulch will add acidity to the soil, but the acid of pine needles comes chiefly from ascorbic acid (vitamin C), which is better than the tannic acid given off by oak leaves. Straw, corn cob, and sawdust are almost neutral, but these materials tend to use up nitrogen from the soil at the beginning, hence, some sources of nitrogen should be supplied with them.

If the pH of the soil is far from the favorable range for the plants you grow, it may be necessary to add specific chemicals to change it. For acidifying the soil, aluminum sulfate, ammonium sulfate or pure sulphur may be used. Follow the directions on the package and test the soil again after three weeks to a month to determine whether the desired change of pH has been attained. For alkalizing the soil, powdered limestone (pH = 12) is commonly used.

Camellia, a z a l e a, rhododendron, holly, kalmia, etc., are acid loving plants, and grow best at pH 5.0 to 6.5. These plants should not be planted close together with alkalineloving plants, such as clemantis, dahlia, deutzia, etc.

Fall Meeting and Show

The Fall meeting of the North Carolina Camellia Society will be held at the N. C. State Faculty Club in Raleigh on October 28th. An exhibition show will be held in cooperation with the Raleigh Garden Club. Make your reservation now with Mrs. Melba Hinson, P. O. Box 813, Whiteville, N. C. 28472. Enclose check for $3.50.

Spring 1967 Meeting of Georgia Camellia Society

For its last meeting the Georgia Camellia Society met with the South Georgia Camellia Society in Moultrie and heard a most interesting program presented by Dr. Gill from the Georgia Experimental Station at Tifton. Dr. Bill Mathis introduced Dr. Gill as being one of the most knowledgeable men in the Camellia World and quoted Hody Wilson and other outstanding Camellia men as authority for this position. Dr. Gill gave a scholarly study of the effect of pH on camellias and explained the reasons for this effect. Of principal interest was his statement that scientific experiments have proven a pH too much on the acid side will result in a tie up of phosphorous and of certain other elements making the unavailable to the plants even though they are present in the soil. Dr Gill was of the general opinion that a pH of from 5 to 6 is probably the most desirable level for camellia culture.

Another interesting thing brought out by Dr. Gill was that all potting mixes should contain some calcium as calcium is essential to the healthy growth of the camellia. He recommended that where peat moss is used as a substantial part of a mixture, five (5) pounds of dolomatic lime should be added to each bale of peat so as to furnish the necessary calcium, supply the needed amount of magnesium, and counter the very low pH of peat.

Spencer Walden, retiring Georgia ACS Director, presented a special award from ACS to Mrs. Betty Sheffield for her famous seedling. Mrs. Sheffield responded with some interesting remarks with regard to this seedling and its history. Sam Hjort, of Thomasville Nurseries, who introduced 'Betty Sheffield' commercially and likewise introduced many of its sports, gave a history of the sporting 'Sheffield' family and related his experience with regard to the reliability and performance of the various 'Sheffield' sports.

Terrell Weaver, of Macon, Chairman of the nominating committee, nominated Stuart Watson to serve as President for another term. Terrell Weaver as Vice-President, Dr. Louis Landau as secretary, and Iim Blissit as Treasurer. These were the same officers who had served the Society during the current year. The nominating committee likewise nominated all of the directors for another oneyear term with the exception of Harold Cawood who had requested that he not serve again. Dr. Mervin Wine of Thomasville was nominated to take Mr. Cawood's place. There were no other nominations and all of the officers and directors so nominated were unanimously elected.

Fall Board Meeting of SCCS

Mr. John Tyler, President of the South Carolina Camellia Society, and Mrs. Tyler entertained the officers and directors of the Society on August 14th in Wagener, S. C. (Editor's Note: Martha Ann made it a success.) The Board met at 11:00 A. M. and at one P. M. a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Tyler.

The board approved a motion to give any group sponsoring a camellia show and a membership booth selling new memberships for the South Carolina Camellia Society a refund of $1.00 per membership. A membership application with $3.00 must be certified by the group submitting it and mailed to Mr. Paul Rush, Secretary-Treasurer of the S. C. Camellia Society, Box 177, Lexington, S. C. 29072. Mr. Rush will make refunds to the sponsoring group.

A new membership is one who has not been a member for two or more consecutive years.

This is a wonderful opportunity for a camellia society or garden club group to make some money for their club.

Why This New Freedom?

By Mrs. Fred J. Hay, Dillon, S. C.

Flower arrangements are made for one of two reasons, either to beautify a setting or as a creative expression. Whichever it is to be is a personal choice, and to give pleasure is the goal. Traditional arrangements, or massed bouquets do beautify when well designed, but they vary little except in color combinations and in seasonal materials. They are more or less copies of past eras and follow man-made rules in somewhat set patterns. Their beauty might be spoken of as "quiet and static". On the other hand, contemporary floral designers, breaking away from man-made rules and aware of our changing world and times, see plant material in a new light and from a different point of view. The flower arrangement of today is classified as a creative visual art. Plant materials are seen as pure line, form, texture and color.

We are living in an age of speed and space. Throughout history the various arts have reflected the times, so it is natural that floral art should in its own unique way speak of the new and changing in our world today. Consider other arts and the products of our crafts and industries—buildings, paintings, ceramics, furniture, and automobiles. Some of the designs are so streamlined that we are startled by them. Much of the modern and abstract that we see in art and especially in floral art today does not appeal because it seems so strange and we do not understand it. In fact a good percentage has been downright ugly! This has repulsed us and we become impatient. It may be difficult for us to see plant materials as just line, or form, or texture, or color-we see them as nature presents them. We are accustomed to putting them together in a more or less traditional manner. However, basic art principles are the real guidelines for both traditional and modern, and if these have become intuitive and are applied correctly, an arranger can forget rules, can place her elements where and how she pleases in a design, and through personal expression create original and arresting designs. These do not have to be ugly or weird with all kinds of objects from the trash heap! The majority of outstanding contemporary arrangers are also dirt gardeners and love the varied and beautiful plant materials that nature gives us. These they use not merely to make just pretty pictures, but to express feelings and ideas. They are giving "form to feeling".

In the background and decor of traditional homes the abstract and very modern designs naturally are not appropriate—but traditional designs can be modified. It is well for the arranger to study abstract designing and new trends in all art. It enlarges horizons and gives clearer insight. Clarice Wilson says one of the greatest rewards of such study is "a new awareness of previously overlooked beauty". Thus new distinction is gained through a better and more suitable choice of materials and by not crowding them in such masses that their individual beauty is lost. By such study we learn to give life and verve to our designs.

We have all shared in the excitement that a handsome new camellia specimen bloom stirs in a show. Just as such new developments in hybridization of specimens has increased our interest in the horticultural division of the shows, so this new freedom in increased our interest in the artistic division. It is stimulating and it is challenging. As arrangers let's keep an open mind.

The American Camellia Society 1967-68 Arrangement Contest

By Mrs. Francis L. Edmondson, Atlanta, Ga.

"Historia—Camelliae" as the theme for 1967-68 Artistic Classes in Camellia Shows over the country will surely bring before the general public a greater awareness of the current international interest in camellias.

It is hoped that there is a class to appeal to almost every arranger and all the while provide an "extra" for the viewing public, for everybody admires the artistry of the floral designer, and, today our art is truly creative!!

It shall be the pleasure of this Chairman to interpret, advise, and console at any time, so that Camellia Shows under the guiding hand of our able ACS President, Alison J. Parsons of Norfolk, Virginia will be the most beautiful, the most inspiring, and the most educational ever.

In the first year in our "new home," Massee Lane Garden, the magnanimous gift of Dave Strother, our horizons have become truly unlimited. This great benefactor brings to the entire membership new inspirations and visions and soul-tingling joys. May the grandness of his gesture reflect itself in all those who come behind us.

Artistic Arrangement Chairman is Mrs. Francis L. Edmondson, 2640 Mabry Road, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia 30319 (Master Judge and Life Member of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.; Charter Member and Accredited Judge of the American Camellia Society, Past President of The Atlanta Camellia Society, Charter Member of International, North Georgia, and the Georgia Camellia Societies).

The following policies are recommended:

- 1. The local Camellia Show's Artistic Arrangement Chairman may prepare an entirely different schedule from this one prepared by the ACS Artistic Arrangement Committee. HOWEVER, if the local group desires to compete in the ACS Contest schedule must be selected from this ACS Schedule, and all the rules of this contest adhered to for an entry to qualify.
- Local groups or clubs may add additional artistic arrangement classes and/or invitational clases to the official schedule, if they desire.
- Contest entries will be selected only from the classes in the ACS Arrangement Schedule,
- 4. The Arrangement Judges and the Contest Judges should be accredited judges of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. in order to uphold the Standard System of Judging. It will be helpful if they are also Camellia Judges.

5. If only one Section is included, then five classes (minimum of four entries in each) will be necessary. If each Section, or if two of the three Sections are included in the local Schedule, then three classes (four entries in each) will be required.

6. Distinctive or different methods of staging ie. vignettes, screens for backgrounds, shojiis, niches, or backgrounds for capsule table settings are not only suggested but recommended by this Committee at the discretion of the local Show Committee. STAG-ING "makes" the Show, and the local schedule should clearly stipulate all sizes and colors of niches, tables, backgrounds, etc.

 The local club is responsible for staging and rules for exhibiting and judging the contest arrangement classes.

"Historia - Camelliae"

By Mrs. J. C. Lybrand, Columbia, S. C.

How is it possible that each year the schedule for the Camellia Society Arrangement Contest is broader and better? I do believe that this is the best one yet. It certainly covers the broadest period of time and presents an opportunity for everyone to exhibit, regardless of the type design you like. If you are an experienced exhibitor then you do not need this advice, but if you have had limited, or no experience, then I may be able to point out several things that might be of help.

First, read the schedule of your local show through completely. Notice all the limitations and all the opportunities. Then, pay especial attention to the classes. After you are thoroughly familiar with every possibility, choose the class or classes that appeal to you. Make your reservation with the artistic section chairman and then you are really ready to go to work. No matter how much you read, it is impossible to know all there is to know about every type design, so go to your library and do a little research on the class that you have chosen. That will give you a correct background against which you will be working and your final arrangement will be much better for the time spent on research.

Please notice that Mrs. Edmondson has given a suggested scale of points for each section, and this is an excellent aid for you. In each scale of points DESIGN is given the greatest number of points, and I can assure you when your exhibit is judged, DE-SIGN will be the determining factor. So review your principles and elements of design, and remember that space is one of the most important elements to consider. Since the artistic section is such a broad one, it is impossible to list references for each. There again, your library will be a great help to you in finding just the right reference. Also your Handbook for Flower Shows will give you a brief description of each type arrangement.

Not all shows will have table classes, but if you are fortunate enough to be working with a show that includes this section, you are most fortunate because no section in a flower show attracts more attention than a good table section. This may require a little more time and work, but it is well worth the effort because you are not only exhibiting, but you are practicing something that you will be doing in your own home long after the show is over.

There is little else that I can add to the excellent article in this Fall issue of Carolina Camellias. Go ahead and try and who knows, you may win the ACS's First Place award for the Most Outstanding Arrangement in the nationwide contest. Wouldn't that be exciting?

Camellia Fertilization

By BOB BAILEY, Columbia, S. C.

There is about as many different ideas about fertilization of camellias as we have growers and many have proven very good.

The range of feeding practices is about as wide as the divergence in recommended potting and planting mediums. In both cases the end result sought is essentially the same. There is more than one way to feed your camellia, but none can really be called the best.

Some experts feed every other month during the dormant season and once a month during the growing season. Others let the natural breakdown of the organic mulch supply the needed nutrients—this is, of course, what happens in nature. Feeding twice a year—once as the end of the blooming season approaches and again in six weeks is the commonly recommended practice. All experts agree on one point: It is better to underfeed than to overfeed.

But don't let your second feeding wait until well into the summer. You may force later vegetative growth which could interfere with development of next year's flower buds.

Never fertilize a camellia during the first year after planting or transplanting. Camellias planted in open ground need not be fertilized for two or three years provided that you use a loose, organically rich soil mix. If you plant in containers, wait for a year and then begin a light but frequent feeding program. Some experts recommend a monthly feeding at half strength of liquid fertilizer.

General concentrated fertilizer, although excellent for many plants, is not recommended for camellias; there is too great a chance that it will burn the roots. If you must use it, cut in half the amount called for on the package, Don't think that because a little gives good results, a lot will be even better—this can be a fatal mistake.

Home gardeners are advised not to use ammonium sulfate or aluminum sulfate. The shock from too-heavy use of either can cause severe leaf dropping.

One of the surest ways to feed your plant safely is to use an acid fertilizer made expressly for plants like camellias, azaleas and rhododendrons. With this type of plant food, you can follow the directions on the package without fear of overfeeding. Cottonseed meal is widely recommended as a slow acting safe fertilizer that will not burn the roots. Three feedings a year, spaced at least 30 days apart during the growing season are sufficient.

Whatever fertilizer or schedule you prefer, it is wise to remember another important factor—consistency. Fertilizing only once every couple years or so will have little if any effect on a camellia. If you have an ailing plant do not make the mistake of fertilizing it. What might seem to be a friendly gesture may in fact be just enough to kill the plant. It is best to transfer the sick camellia into straight, moist ground bark or damp peat moss.

Fall Meeting Georgia Camellia Society

The first meeting of the Georgia Camellia Society should be a real treat for all of us, and we should have an exceptionally fine attendance at this meeting, which will be held jointly with the South Georgia Camellia Society and the Middle Georgia Camellia Society at Massee Lane on October 18. The three societies will meet at Massee Lane at 5:00 p.m. for a tour of the garden and the facilities there. The new headquarters for ACS will be started by that time so we will have the privilege of seeing the setting of this fine new building which will serve as the heart of ACS from now on. But this is not all. The New Perry Hotel has been famous for the excellent food available there for many years, and, at 7:30, we will all go to the New Perry Hotel for a delicious meal and a program that will be brought to us by Joe Pyron, Executive Secretary of ACS. Those of you who are members of the South Georgia Camellia Society should send your reservations for the meeting to the secretary of that society. Those who are not members of the South Georgia Camellia Society should notify the secretary of the Middle Georgia Society, Don Mitchell, whose address is 1809 Waverland Circle, Macon, Georgia, so that he can make reservations for you. Let's all get together for this fine meeting which has been planned by the Middle Georgia Society and start the new season off with a real bang.

Did you know . . .

Before this season started 'BETTY SHEFFIELD' had nineteen named mutations or sports as follows: pink, pink variegated, pink chiffon, Baby, Blush, Blonde Betty, Charming, Coral, Dream, Funny Face, Lavender Blush, Pink Heart, Purple, Ruby Red, Silver, Strawberry, Supreme, Blush Supreme, and Veined. There is no way of telling how many more there will be by the end of this blooming season.

It would be an interesting pastime to look up and tabulate all the families. If anyone attempts this task let us know as we would like to carry it in a future Bulletin.—Fred McGee.

Welcome to the Old South

While much of the picturesque "Old South" is Gone With the Wind the beautiful ante-bellum city of Natchez lives on. This was spared the torch and plundering of the vengeful Yankees who burned and looted Jackson, Atlanta and many other Southern cities as punishment of the Revels. There are still some 60 old showplaces in the vicinity where 11 of the 17 millionnaires in the United States as of 1850 had homes.

Most communities find themselves with a problem of clean up, fix up and modernizing. The little city of Natchez, Mississippi, has a different problem. Its valuable assets are its antebellum mansions which will not tolerate modernization; and, therefore, its community values can only grow in the courtesies, the friendliness and the hospitality of its people.

The program for the 1967 Fall Meeting of the Society calls for a tour of several of these old mansions. This program is flexible; and if any of our visitors have a particular interest in a particular location or situation, a visit can be arranged. The Natchez Men's Camellia Society is a very small and enthusiastic group, but has been assured the cooperation of the two older garden clubs—the Natchez Garden Club and the Pilgrimage Garden Club—in making this Fall Meeting one to be remembered. The Camellia Show, in connection with the meeting, will be held at "Ellicott Hall" on the grounds of historic "Connelly's Tavern," all located on Ellicott Hill where Andrew Ellicott first raised the American flag in the Natchez Territory. The Tavern, Headquarters of the Natchez Garden Club, open to registered guests of the meeting, is a treasure house of historic emblems. To sit in the corner where Aaron Burr hid away to plot his dream of empire is a sobering experience to those who love history.

After luncheon at the Carriage House on the grounds of "Stanton Hall," Headquarters of the Pilgrimage Garden Club, our registered guests will tour this impressionable old mansion. Arrangements have been made for those who will ship or bring flowers for the Show to store them in the cooling room of the Adams County Cold Storage Plant located at the intersection of Liberty Road and Seargent S. Prentiss Drive. For those who may require special treatment or who may need assistance in this connection, all information can be secured from Mr. Arlie C. Warren. whose address is Linden Drive, Natchez, Mississippi 39120. For the answer to any other questions, regarding the Show, contact should be made with Mr. W. T. Mallory, Show Chairman, whose address is Highway 61 North, Natchez, Mississippi 39120.

Headquarters for the meeting will be the Eola Hotel, downtown within a block and a half of both "Connelly's Tavern" and "Staunton Hall." For attendance at the other functions to which we have been invited, transportation will be provided.

Table of Honor Varieties

By Paul Dahlen, Aiken, S. C.

Camellia japonica varieties grown under glass that were chosen Best in Show or selected for the Table of Honor in seven shows in South Carolina, Georgia and North Carolina this past January, February and March are shown in the accompanying table. The data for these shows reveal that 'Elegans Supreme', 'Pink Diddy', 'Tomorrow Park Hill' and 'Ville de Nantes' tied for the lead in popularity with 'Tomorrow Var.' just a step behind.

This is the third season that this type analysis has been made and it is interesting that 'Pink Diddy' has tied for the lead in popularity each of these seasons. The other varieties that tied with 'Pink Diddy' in 1966 were 'Guillo Nuccio Var.' and 'Tomorrow's Dawn'. These latter two varieties did not fare nearly as well in the 1967 season.

Varieties 'ELEGANS SUPREME' and TOMORROW PARK HILL' are relatively new but they definitely have established themselves as outstanding show blooms and consistent winners of high recognition. However, no brand new varieties made any big impression on the judges this past season and there was definite indication that the better growers of show blooms were concentrating more on obtaining desirable strains of established varieties than on new varieties.

Again, as last year, a similar analysis of japonica varieties (not grown under glass in that area) that were most popular in six shows in California this past March was made based on Show Results published in the May, 1967, edition of "The Camellia Review", publication of The Southern California Camellia Society. Inc. This analysis showed that Julia France' and 'Mrs. D. W. Davis' appeared most often on the Table of Honor. Other varieties reaching the Table of Honor more than once were: 'CARTER'S SUNBURST', 'CARTER'S SUN-BURST PINK', 'CLARK HUBBS', 'CORAL PINK LOTUS', 'ECCLEFIELD', 'ERIN FAR-MER', 'HAWAII', 'KRAMER'S SUPREME', 'LADY KAY', 'ONETIA HOLLAND', 'REG RAGLAND VAR.', 'SUNSET OAKS', 'TIF-FANY', and 'WHITE NUN'. It is rather surprising to the writer that the "To-MORROWS', 'VILLE', 'ELEGANS SUPREME' and 'PINK DIDDY' are absent from this list

In Memoriam

RUSSELL RAMSEY MELLETTE, SR.

Russell was a member of the First Baptist Church of Aiken, S. C. and had taught The Roger Williams Bible Class for 25 years. Following his retirement as Aiken County Farm Agent in 1960 he served as chairman of the City of Aiken Park Commission.

He was past president of the South Carolina Camellia Society, member of the American Camellia Society and member of the Aiken Camellia Club. Russell's ready smile and encouraging words were always welcomed by camellia growers throughout the camellia belt.

J. D. CARROLL

Mr. John DeLorme Carroll died May 14, 1967. Jack, as he was affectionately known by his many friends, will be missed in many circles but especially by camellia lovers. He was a member of the Lexington Baptist Church, life member of the Board of Deacons and teacher of the Men's Bible Class. He was a charter member of the Lexington Lions Club, past president of the Central T.B. Association, past president of the National Fraternity of Pi Kappa Phi, past president of the South Carolina Camellia Society, member of the American Camellia Society and member of the Men's Camellia Club of Columbia.

Jack will be missed for his wise counsel and willingness to help with anything camelliawise.

DR. JOHN L. CLARE

Dr. John L. Clare of Danville, Virginia, and Pelham, North Carolina, died suddenly on August 11, 1967, at the early age of 52. He was a member of Men's Piedmont Camellia Club, the North Carolina Camellia Society and the American Camellia Society.

"Jack" Clare loved camellias and flowers. In fact he loved all of nature's beauty. His beautiful country home in the rolling hills south of Danville, with its adjacent lake, both formal and natural landscaping, and his attractive Gothic greenhouses full of choice camellia plants were a testimonial both to his taste and to his accomplishment. He was a leader in his chosen profession and a leader among those who loved camellias—his chosen hobby. He was a man of knowledge and ability, always extending a happy and friendly smile and possessed of a most attractive personality.

Men's Piedmont Camellia Club has lost a leader, a diligent worker and an inspiring show competitor. The American and North Carolina Camellia Societies have lost a true and loyal member. He will be greatly missed by a host of friends at future meetings and camellia shows.

To his widow, sons and daughters, we extend our deepest sympathy.

A Member's Impression of an American Camellia Society Meeting

Editor's Note: This is Marjorie Snyder's impression of an American Camellia Society annual meeting. Why not go to one and see for yourself. Natchez, Mississippi, on November 9, 10, 11, 1967.

We had a fine time at Mobile; even the weather cooperated—it was warm and, for the most part, clear. Of course, we could have dispensed with the spectacular and tragic fire at 0300 hours, Sunday morning, near the Admiral Semmes Hotel, the ACS Headquarters Building.

On Thursday, 19 January 1967, the twenty-second annual meeting of the American Camellia Society began, I am sure, when Joe Pyron was seen descending in an elevator of the ACS Headquarters Building almost completely buried under the load of material that he was carrying. It is noted in the Schedule of Events that the ACS Governing Board held a meeting at 0900 hours on that day, and it is assumed that Joe was on his way to that meeting. If the size of this load is any indication of the work to be done, we have one of the hardest working Governing Boards of any organization in the world.

Among the many people present from nearby and distant parts of the world, we were pleased to greet the Fishers, from Sydney, Australia, and their charming daughter, Sally. In the afternoon, visits were made to the gardens and greenhouses of Mr. Charles R. Butler, Mr. C. C. Crutcher, and Mr. Harry H. Smith. Many beautiful camellias were in bloom, and we enjoyed walking through the gardens and greenhouses admiring them. We also thought that the construction of the different greenhouses and the use of the plastic covering materials was interesting and noteworthy. And that night, we relaxed at a dinner dance in the Ballroom of the Admiral Semmes Hotel.

On Friday, the world famous Bellingrath Gardens and Home, located on the Isle-aux-Oies River, near Mobile, were inspected. The gardens were beautiful, with lovely mazes and reflecting pools, several of which had exquisitely colored water lillies resting on their surfaces. The sand paths took us through groves of trees draped with Spanish moss to the camellia plantings, and on the way, among the many camellias, were seen huge plants of 'WILDWOOD' and 'DRAMA GIRL' in full bloom. A Japanese Garden was being created there and rounding a path in its direction, we were rewarded, unexpectedly, with a vision of a small lake embellished by pink flamingoes and white and black swan, Inside of the lovely mansion were many items of art collected by the Bellingrath's during their tenure. Bayley's Restaurant had a fine luncheon waiting for us, which was followed by a visit to the Belle Fontaine and Riverview Nurseries. That evening there was a special discussion program under the direction of the ACS Board of Directors. Petal blight was among some of the matters mentioned.

Saturday found us visiting the Battleship USS Alabama, with its huge guns fore and aft, and a lot of space horizontally and vertically inbetween. "Oakleigh" and "Fort Conde-Charlotte House" were also visited and found to be most interesting, both from a point of age and of furnishings.

The 27th Annual Camellia Show of the Men's Camellia Club of Mobile, Incorporated, in cooperation with the Gulf Coast Camellia Society, was opened in a big way by that charming and gracious little lady, Governor Lurleen B. Wallace of the State of Alabama. There was also a fine choral group. Many camellias were exhibited and there were beautiful arrangements. The Best Bloom in the Show was 'Tomorrow's Park Hill'. Some of the miniatures were entrancing, especially 'STARLETT', with its pink color phase, and 'GINGER', a tiny white.

At the Banquet that evening, President Alison J. (Preacher) Parsons gave his "State of the Society" message, mentioning among other things that the ACS Endowment fund had topped the $100,000 mark, either through pledges or contributions. Mr. Dave Strother was present and introduced to the membership.

The hour of parting had arrived and good-byes were said for another year. WE HAD A FINE TIME AT MOBILE, ALABAMA!

Disbud— Pro and Con

Disbudding is a decision only you can make. Some camellia growers are against it and others favor it.

So many decisions can depend on a little two-letter word, "if".

If you want lots of flowers don't disbud. A camellia plant might have many 4" flowers and by disbudding to one bud for each terminal you may have a few 5" flowers.

If you enjoy exhibiting at camellia shows you will want a few large flowers. A few flower buds you have will increase in size up to a point.

If you want a specimen plant for the yard or greenhouse to be covered with a mass of blooms, don't disbud,

Some varieties do not benefit from disbudding. Other varieties are just the opposite, they grow larger with better color and substance.

If you dislike work and often let your camellias take care of themselves then you probably won't bother to disbud.

This is not intended to promote disbudding but to just start you to thinking.
